MARKED INCREASE IN ASSESSMENTS

Exemptions on Dwellings Offset Boost in Property Values.

Early indications that a considerable increase would be made in the gross assessment of the city at the present revision have been verified by the returns for Ward Eight, issued by Commissioner Forman yesterday. The gross taxable assessment of the ward is given as $37,609,999 as compared with $32,790,990 last year, an increase of $4,819,009. Although this is a substantial increase, it does not, however, wipe out the total amount of the partial exemptions on dwellings, going into effect next year. This amounts to $6,281,- 037 and the city will lose general taxes on that sum, but not school taxes. The net amount on which general taxes will be levied is $31,328,- 910, or $1,482,030 less than this year.
The increases are spread over all classes of assessment, the latest figures showing advances of eight per cent on land, twenty per cent on buildings, twelve per cent on business and sixty per cent on income assessments. That the assessors did not make a deliberate effort to boost values to a point that would entirely offset the exemptions is revealed by the fact that considerable building took place in the northern part of the ward last year, and that new homes had to be provided to care for the ever-growing population which shows an increase of 5,081 during the past twelve months; the total population having jumped from 40,944 to 45,999.
The details of the revised assessment are as follows: Land, $17,375,- 298; buildings, $18,683,190; business, $1,009,567; income, $578,967. Last year's figures were: Land, $16,917,- 940; buildings, $18,143,089; income, $578,967. Exemptions total $3,031,-

SEEK TO PROMOTE NATIONAL HEALTH

Dr. J. W. Robertson and
Col. Nasmith Address
Board of Trade.

The necessity of looking after public health was impressed on the members of the Board of Trade yesterday by Dr. J. W. Robertson and Col. G. G. Nasmith, of the Canadian Red Cross Society. Dr. Robertson told some of his recent experiences in looking around for perfect physical specimens among the working classes, but intimated that the result of his adventures was almost nil.
This led him to the conclusion that some active steps are necessary for the preservation of the national health.
There are now 31 nations taking up the health idea, and he thought the movement might catch on in Canada just a little more strongly.
During May and June the Red Cross Society is looking for 700,000 new members who will get the health-first idea, and seek to improve conditions among the children, who will be the making of the next generation. As Dr. Robertson explained matters, there is plenty of scope for this new work, as ignorance and carelessness do not rest with the poor alone. The average mother does not appear to know the exact foods to give to her young to develop them physically to the best advantage, and few seem to realize the direct connection between physical well-being and mental activity.
Col. Nasmith sketched the history of the public health idea, giving much credit to Pasteur for the development of disease-battling methods.

PAYMENTS LEGAL, SAYS SIR ADAM

By-laws Providing Additional Remuneration Properly Passed.

ANSWER TO RANEY

Municipalities, Not Province, Contribute Great Bulk of Salaries.

"I have read the statement of the Attorney-General made in the House last night, to the effect that the $6,000 paid to me as president, and the payments to the other commissioners, officers and officials of the Ontario Power Company are, in the opinion of the Attorney-General, unauthorized and illegal," said Sir Adam Beck, when interviewed yesterday.

"The legal advisers of the Ontario Power Company differ from the views of the Attorney-General, and advise that the annual payment to me, and the payments to the other commissioners, officers and officials of the Ontario Power Company are perfectly regular, proper and legal.

"In any event, the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario now hold and control all the stock of the Ontario Power Company, and under these circumstances I am curious to know who can have any status in challenging the validity of these various payments—unless, indeed, it is the Attorney-General himself.

"I am more concerned with the merits than I am with the technical legal questions. The well-defined policy of the Hydro and the municipalities is "Service at Cost," and in pursuance of this policy some years ago the interested municipalities passed a resolution requesting amendments to the Hydro Act providing for payment as operating expenses to the commissioners of any sum up to $25,000 a year. Legislation followed this resolution, but limited the amount to be paid to the commissioners to $15,000.

"This was the situation when in 1917 the Hydro-Electric Power Commission acquired the controlling interest in the capital stock of the Ontario Power Company by the purchase of the shares of that company in Buffalo. At that time a new Board of Directors of the company was elected, and I, as chairman of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, was elected president. Since then the business of the Ontario Power Company has been carried on as a separate undertaking of that company, and is now being so carried on. All the contracts and engagements with customers, including the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, are being carried out as company transactions, in the same manner as they were carried out prior to the purchase of the shares. This involves the performance of all duties and all the work of those who, prior to that time, had been the officials and officers of the company.

By-laws Properly Passed.

"After the commission acquired the shares as above, a proper by-law, as I am advised, was passed with the knowledge and approval of the then Government, providing for additional remuneration to myself, as president of the company, and proper by-laws for the payment of the other commissioners and officials of Fenwick-McCullough.

At the Church of the Epiphany riage took place of Jacqueline, eldest daughter of Dr. J. W. S. McCullough and Mrs. McCullough, to Dr. Charles P. Fenwick, son of the Rev. Mark Fenwick, D.D., of St. John's, Newfoundland. The church was simply and attractively decorated with palms and daisies, and the Rev.

Dyson Hague conducted the ceremony. The bride was charming in her gown of white crepe charrinouse and Carrickmacross lace, with its pink-lined train edged with pearls.
Her veil was arranged on her head with a bandeau of Carrickmacross lace across the forehead and caught at the side with orange blossoms.
She carried a superb bouquet of white lilies of the valley and butterfly orchids, and wore on her corsage a platinum and diamond bar, the gift of the groom. She was attended by her sister, Dorothy, as maid of honor, and Miss Florence Patterson as bridesmaid. They wore lovely eighteenth century gowns of delicate orchid color, with taffeta picture hats to match, and carried bouquets of lilac. The bride was given away the bridesmaids were pearl pins and cuff-links and tie-clips. After the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's home, 61 Beatty avenue.

The bride and groom received with Dr. and Mrs. McCullough in the drawing-room, which was gaily decorated with flowers and ferns, and refreshments were served from a marquee on the lawn. Mrs. McCullough wore a handsome gown of embroidered yellow voile over taffeta, with black sash, large black hat, and carried a bouquet of pansies. After left for a two-weeks' honeymoon in Quebec. The bride's going-away

HOSPITAL ADDS NOVEL FEATURES

Together With New Home
for St. Michael's Nurses

EFFICIENCY IN OPERATIONS

The new home for nurses of St. Michael's Hospital on Shuter street, just east of Victoria street, is rapidly nearing completion, and before the month is out the authorities hope that the formal opening will take place.

The home is a seven-story building of reinforced concrete, and will be capable of accommodating 150 nurses. There are six stories that contain sleeping accommodations, and in addition there are in the home a lecture hall, a reception room for nurses, a library, a demonstration room, a gymnasium and a trunk room.

The building is completed now, except for the finishing of the exterior work. It is expected that it will be formally declared open by Archbishop McNeill.

New Operating Theatre.

At the same time as the home is being constructed a new operating theatre is being built on the roof at St. Michael's Hospital, and it will likely be ready for occupancy at the same time. The new theatre will be one of the most up-to-date on the continent, the operating rooms having two sides all of glass, to afford plenty of light.

There are five operating rooms proper. Two are for general cases, one for puer cases, one for ear, nose and throat cases, and one for eye cases. A remarkable feature in the rooms is the aperture in the wall in which can be placed the X-ray plate of the part upon which the operation is being performed. The surgeon simply has to look up at the plate from his place by the side of the patient, without moving away from the operating table.

Other New Features.

A room is specially fitted up for rapid pathological diagnosis in the case where the disease operated upon is suspected to be malignant. During the course of the operation a decision can be reached as to whether to proceed further and to what extent.

In addition to the operating rooms there are rooms for sterilizing instruments and materials used in operations, doctors' and nurses' dressing rooms, a place to filter water, obviating the necessity of purchasing filtered water, and all other accessories of the very latest kind to make the theatre a complete unit, including quick telephone communication with the doors below.

Open Holiday Home

For Working Girls

Members who attended the annual meeting of the Toronto Diocesan Council of the Girls' Friendly Society, on Saturday, were told that the society has secured a holiday home for girls and that it will open next week, under Mrs. Howe, who had charge for some time of the G. F. S. headquarters, at 88 Charles street. The house, which belonged to the Nordheimer family, and was secured largely through the instrumentality of Miss Nordheimer, will accommodate 25. It is about a mile and a half from Penetanguishene, is surrounded by farming country and near enough to a good beach for the girls to enjoy plenty of bathing.

Both boarding houses under the society, one at 88 Charles street and the other at 82 St. Alban street, are in a flourishing condition, and are providing the home touch for many girls coming to the city as strangers. Officers for the year will be: President, Mrs. Goldwin Howland; Vice-President, Miss Grace Arnold; Mrs. G. G. Gillespie; Mrs. Elton; Secretary, Miss Schulte; Treasurer, Mrs. Charles Deverall.

A Daily Hint
In Costuming

Wears the White Flower Of a "Sup"-less Career

Few of the thousands in the hall for the convocation at Varsity caught the significance of the white rose which the Chancellor pinned to the college gown of Miss Lillian Phillips of Sherbourne street when she went forward for her degree. Few even noticed the incident, which was the University's recognition of the fact that Miss Phillips had not only won a double first-class in mathematics and physics, but had obtained a higher number of marks than any other student, man or woman, in the University.

A Tribute We Value

A few days ago a member of the legal fraternity, one standing high in his profession, sent us an advertisement of a very fine old firm in the United States, in which, editorially, was embodied certain traditions of the institution, and which our legal friend said, in his judgment, epitomized the Murray-Kay business to a nicety.

In linking this store with the sentiments contained in the advertisement, the gentleman paid us high tribute, and if his opinion is generally shared by others we are, indeed, well repaid for the labor we have expended in the carrying on of a business that stands rigidly for good quality, fair prices and courteous treatment.

It is sixty-eight years since W. A. Murray founded this store. From the very beginning he linked himself with quality. It made no difference whether in the final clean-up his purchases showed a profit—upon one point he never varied, and that one was—quality must be right. Another point which Mr. Murray worked into his activities and which has been a large part of the policy of the store in all the intervening years—"generous values."

Mr. Murray's slogan, had he chosen to adopt one, might well have been written, "A little higher quality for the same price asked elsewhere."

The present management continues the policy so well established in the long ago, and the men and women on our staff, with the juniors of both sexes who serve you here, are constantly kept in mind of their responsibilities. We hope they measure up in every instance to the degree that our legal friend has in mind—although, truth to tell, we must confess on occasions that some of us fall short of our expectations, but that's the human element; one has to deal with. The chief thing to establish is a willingness to do the right thing under every circumstance, and the right thing as we understand it is the service the customer feels he ought to get.

CHRISTIE'S BISCUITS AT THE "EX"

Admirable Display in Main Aisle of Manufacturing Building.

It has always been claimed that Christies of Toronto make biscuits as good as those produced anywhere in the world.

Of course though, everyone knows that Christie's Biscuits are made right here in Toronto, where are employed 850 Canadians who take especial pride in the perfection of their products.

One may judge the extent and variety of the Christie line by visiting their booth on the Main Centre Aisle of the Manufacturers' Building near the East Entrance. Here one may see row on row of these tempting dainties, attractively arranged in a manner which aptly exemplifies the true Christie ideals of quality and purity.

This splendid Biscuit exhibit of Christie, Brown & Co. is well worth seeing and everyone is invited to call—Grocers especially should make a point of visiting it before the close of the Exhibition.

They state that there should be a ready sale in the United States at all times for goods which have such high artistic value and have expressed their satisfaction in this regard with the products of this mill. The Barrymore Cloth Company, Limited.

In a separate booth is arranged a most attractive display of women's cloakings, men's suitings, etc., the product of the Barrymore Cloth Company, Limited, which is operated by the Toronto Carpet Manufacturing Company.

This concern was organized in 1915 to make cloths for the war department, and during the last few seasons has produced domestic cloths.

MR. BERTRAM FORSYTH,

widely known on the English stage as an actor and a dramatist, who reached Hart House this morning to become director of the little theatre there and who proposes to make Toronto his permanent home.

ONCE TAUGHT CHARLIE.

London, Sept. 3.—T. A. March, headmaster of Agnes school, is looking forward eagerly to the visit of Charlie Chaplin, who was once his pupil. "He used to make us laugh," Mr. March said. "He had a genius for pranks and mimicry. His gait was curious, even as a boy—one shoulder up, one leg bent, one foot pointing east and one foot west. His clothes were always shabby and ill-fitting, sometimes too large and frequently too small."

NEW DIRECTOR SEEKS PLAYS BY CANADIANS

Mr. Bertram Forsyth Discusses Plans for the Little Theatre at Hart House.

One special note is recollected in an interview with Mr. Bertram Forsyth, author and producer of note and an actor widely known on the English stage, who arrived this morning to begin his directorship of the little theatre at Hart House. It will be his principal ambition to find Canadian plays. "I want to get Canadian plays, if I can find Canadian authors," he said. "Canada must have authors who can write for the stage. Upon the failure of the interviewer to name any Canadians renowned as playwrights, Mr. Forsyth showed his optimistic determination to find them, nevertheless. "Still, they can be made," he replied. The result of Mr. Forsyth's influence at Hart House may very well be the development of a Canadian drama as distinctive in its way as that of the Irish players that culminated in the work of Yeats and Synge.

All of Mr. Forsyth's work is marked by its simplicity, its fairy and fantastic qualities, similar in some ways to the Irish plays which he admires a great deal. "I believe in great simplicity," he remarked. "The Shepherdess Without a Heart," the last play he produced, at the Garrick Theatre, London, was a drama for little children and grown-up children, for that matter, that recalled the fairy stories of Hans Christian Andersen. It was Mr. Forsyth who originally revived and produced the Beggars' Opera at the Little Theatre in London just before the war. "I always knew it would be a success," he said.

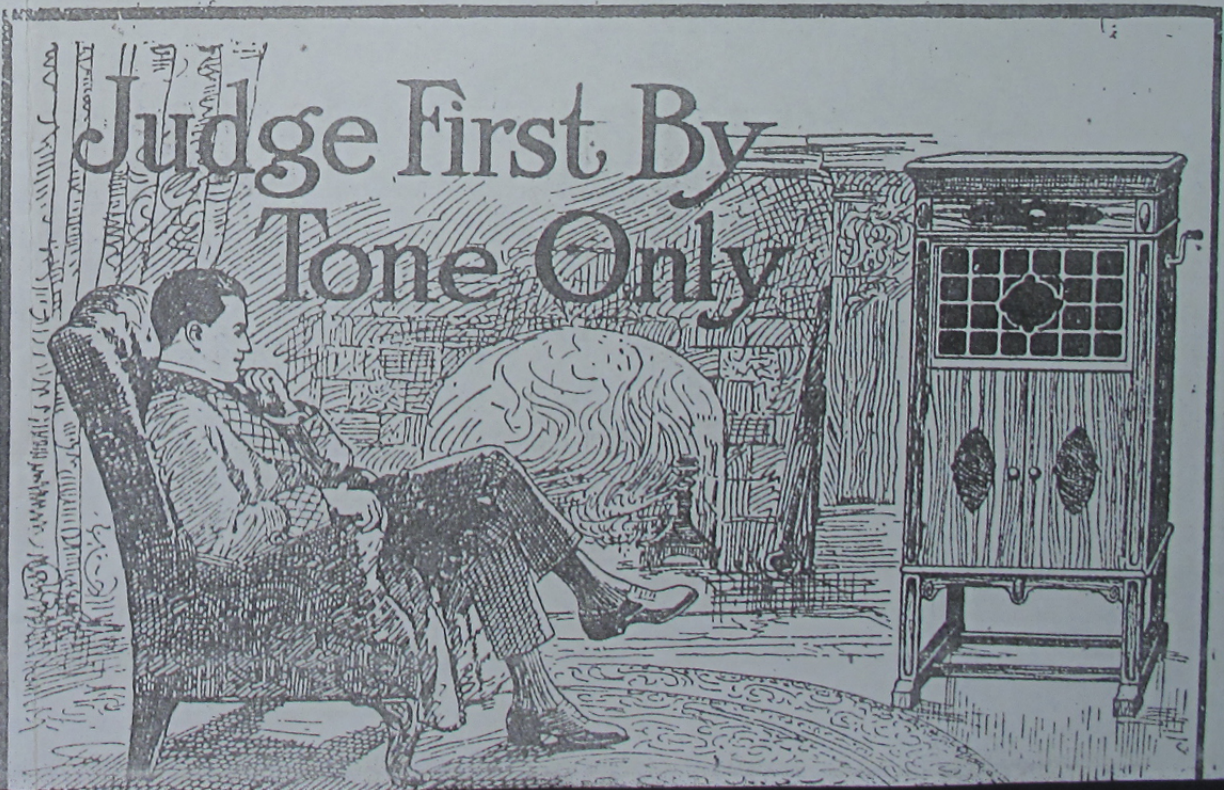

Something of this same simplicity and charm is inherent in this famous actor's kindly manner. Over six feet tall and large of frame, he is remarkably boyish and pleasantly open of feature. "There's nothing like it in England," he said, enthusiastically, after a hurried inspection of the Hart House stage and theatre. "I am looking forward to my work here when I shall have made acquaintances, and am able to find my way about these corridors without getting lost. Mrs. Forsyth, who is an accomplished French woman, will join him here in six months."

Having just reached the city this morning with Mrs. Massey and Col. Vincent Massey from their summer cottage at Murray Bay, Que., where Mr. Forsyth has been visiting since his arrival from England last week, he could not say exactly what plays would be produced this season or whether he would draw entirely for his talent from the students themselves. "What I want to concentrate on, though, is the acting. In my opinion, the play's the thing, especially voice production, the speaking of the lines. Because on our stage in England now everybody's complaining that they cannot make out what the actors are saying half the time. We've lost the art of voice production. After all, if you cannot hear what the actor is saying, what is the use of the play at all? Scenery plays a great part, there's no doubt, but voice production is the most essential thing."

nk, Election Issue Is, "Get Rid of Administration," Say Labor Men

ES ROLLO MAKES OWN CHOICE

"I will exercise my right of appearing on the political platform of any candidate of whom I am in favor," declared Hon. Walter Rollo, Provincial Minister of Labor, last night, as a statement of his intentions with respect to the coming general election campaign. The Minister intimated, however, that those candidates who commended themselves to him would not include free trade advocates.

While the Minister did not say so, his riding and the Hamilton Labor organization of which he is a member are destitute of free trade sympathies. In the words of another Hamilton Labor man, his is an organization which would not for a moment permit any other body to "tie it up to a free trade policy." Labor candidates, he said, would run for Federal seats on the Labor platform, irrespective of any Federal alliance which may be inferred by the general public or contemplated by party chiefs.

K. K. Homuth, Labor M.P.P. for South Waterloo, emphatically declared his intention of getting out to give active support to the Federal Labor candidate in his riding. "The tariff," he said, "isn't the issue. The issue is that of getting rid of the present administration."

Still another Labor opinion delivered at the Parliament Buildings yesterday was that the tariff was being dragged in to cloud the issue and to create divergence between Labor and Farmers. "There is no tariff issue," this Labor man declared, "and we won't let the tariff issue create differences among us."

STILL PROTESTING OVER CAR FARES

Board of Control Requests Tickets for School Children

A suggestion that all children should be treated alike in the matter of street car fares was made by Mayor Church at the meeting of the Board of Control yesterday, and the Board decided to request the Transportation Commission to provide tickets for school children.

No action was taken in regard to the suggestion of Mr. Joseph Oliver, Grand Sire of the Oddfellows, that a civic half-holiday should be proclaimed on Wednesday, September 14, when the big Oddfellows' convention will be in session.

The board also decided to do nothing concerning the suggestion of the British Imperial Association to hold a protest meeting on the City Hall steps in regard to the street car fare increases.

It was stated that the heating system to be installed in the Live Stock Arena at the Exhibition will cost $155,000.

An application by the Toronto Housing Company for an additional guarantee by the city of bonds to the amount of $350,000 was held over.

BARNES TESTIFIES AGAINST COMRADES

Man From Texas Gives Evidence Regarding Alleged Counterfeiters

Claude W. Barnes, who recently confessed to being an escaped life prisoner from a Texas prison, appeared to give evidence against his companions in the counterfeiting case against the trio at the Police Court yesterday morning. Barnes said that he had known the two Simpsons, arrested with him, about two months. Joseph Simpson had shown him some 50-cent pieces and claimed to have passed $160 worth. Afterward he had taken $15 worth to try out at Scarborough Beach, although he thought the pieces too light to escape detection.

Frank Martin, who runs a concession at the Beach, remembered John Simpson trying to pass some of the money.

Guard Jones recalled a conversation between the prisoners, in which Barnes had promised that he would not give evidence against his companions. Barnes was alleged to have promised that he would feign loss of memory. Bail of $5,000 apiece was allowed the Simpsons, while Barnes is to be deported.

MUSIC RECALLS DAYS OF GERMAN IRON HEEL

PIECE PLAYED AT FAIR REMINISCENT OF CARDINAL MERCIER'S IMPRISONMENT

A selection was played by H. M. Grenadier Guards Band, from Montreal, which was recognized by many Toronto music lovers yesterday, and which serves as a recollection to the martyrdom of Belgium.

Its title is "Vers L'Avenir" (toward the future). During the darkest days of the von-Bissing regime one Sunday morning, while a solemn Mass had just been celebrated, by that Prince of the Church, Cardinal Mercier, when the whole St. Gudule Church was crowded with anxious throngs, and the aisles guarded by masses of figures in field grey, with bayonets fixed, the grand organ slowly swung into the music of "Vers L'Avenir." The Cardinal, who was just leaving, returned to the altar; he stood there with uncovered head, the tears streaming down his face; the mass of people in the church sobbed. But the music had brought new light and new hope to a people ground under the iron heel of Germany. The Cardinal was placed under arrest in his palace on the following day.

One of the most interesting and practical commercial demonstrations at the Canadian National Exhibition this year are the exhibits of the Dodd & Struthers Pure Copper Cable Lightning Rods and Fixtures, in the Electrical Building.

The Dodd people have succeeded in returning popular confidence into lightning rods. This has been accomplished by a scientific and efficient innovation, which has brought them satisfaction from thousands of customers, a guarantee of security from over 2,000 insurance companies who grant reduced rates on buildings where the Dodd & Struthers equipment has been installed.

The completed equipment is the outcome of several years of experimenting and testing under guidance of expert electrical engineers and naturalists. The object was to secure the greatest possible security of property and life, and in that effort the manufacturers of the Dodd & Struthers equipment have remarkably succeeded. In the Electrical Building they have on exhibition the practical workings of their cable as a safeguard against the ferocity of the elements.

DIRECTOR SEEKS CANADIAN PLAYS

Bertram Forsyth, Now in Charge of Hart House Theatre, in Harness

APOSTLE OF PURE SPEECH

Bertram Forsyth, new director of Hart House Theatre, comes from England as an apostle of the drama of spoken words, in contradistinction to dramatic interpretation wherein light, color and massed movement are the prime factors and the players are another beneath the trappings of mechanical stage-craft. His gods are the gods of acting, to whom the beautifully delivered speech and the finished characterization are as a sweet savor; to whom scenery and effects must ever be the player's servants and maintain their proper places behind his chair.

So much may be gathered in a few moments talk with Mr. Forsyth. Not for him is the "froth" of impressionism which has submerged so many modern producers and caused them to lose the "sure footing of dramatic verities." He speaks, almost with reverence, of the passing from the English stage of such men as Alexander, Waller and the Irvings; and deplores the fact that in Britain voice production "is a lost art." Mr. Forsyth is clearly orthodox, earnest and firm in his faith in Hamlet's doctrine that the purpose of playing is to "hold, as 'twere, the mirror up to nature."

Although but a few days in Toronto, he already is in harness, and when seen yesterday by The Globe in his office at Hart House he was immersed in preparations for the coming season. Chief among the innovations planned by the new director is a clearing-house for Canadian playwrights. Briefly, he would make it possible for the Canadian with an idea and the urge to put it into dramatic form to do so, with the knowledge that at Hart House Theatre it would receive careful consideration, with the possibility of production, or, on the other hand, its return with a brief written criticism of such a character that further effort would be encouraged. It is his hope now to establish a school of Canadian drama similar to the Irish school, which sprang into life under the stimulus of the Abbey Theatre, Dublin.

Setting as his ideal a high standard in acting as the first requisite to artistic play production, Mr. Forsyth hopes to gather about him a group of players—not necessarily small or restricted—which by hard work and enthusiasm will place upon the stage plays that will be both a joy to watch and a joy to hear. He lays great stress upon purity of enunciation, clarity of diction, and honesty in interpretation, and to these ends he will direct his greatest efforts.

The plans for the coming season are, of course, far from complete, but he announces a triple bill for the first offering, "A Night at an Inn," by Dunsany; "Pantaloons," by Barrie, and "White Magic," by Algernon Blackwood in collaboration with himself. It may be that later some musical plays, similar to Mr. Gay's "Beggars' Opera" may be done, he says, but this is still under consideration.

The new director is looking forward with great eagerness to meeting the many players who have been associated with Hart House Theatre in the past, and is anxious to meet new players, and to these he hopes to offer an opportunity to be heard. Mrs. Forsyth, who is a native of France, and their little son, Peter, will arrive from England in a couple of months.

DOUBLE PORTABLES ON SCHOOL GROUNDS

Board Discusses Speeding Up of Work on New Accommodation

Portable buildings appear to be coming back into favor with the Board of Education. At the meeting of the Property Committee of the board yesterday it was decided to erect double portables on the grounds of Coleman and Kimberly Schools, in order to relieve the congestion.

The demand for 18 single portables for the relief of a number of high schools was considered by the committee and it was decided to pass the recommendation on to the board. Considerable discussion took place on the question of speeding up the completion of new additions to schools which were in the process of erection. There was a general feeling that something ought to be done to urge contractors to press on more quickly with the work, but Mr. Pearce stated that they were all keeping within the time limit of their contracts.
